

APR 00-APR 01

SacredAgent: Mill Valley CA

Information Designer | Interface Designer / Architect / Developer

Owned every phase from concept through final AS3 for three pivotal aspects of a massive agent-driven custom info delivery system:

- Created a complex AS3 'waveplayer' which incorporated integral calculus-driven pan, zoom and fade easing, timecode synchronization to 1/100th of a second with a soundtrack's inflection points, and complex 'meniscus' text-rendering effects to dynamically build and present animations in real time. This solution drew upon custom XML to drive AS3 and required close coordination with other programmers to bring to fruition within a ridiculously short timeframe.
- Devised and saw through multiple deployments, an elegant and effective tool for designers to specify and test locations for sound emitters in three dimensional virtual environments. This solution utilized a MySQL database, php-generated XML and Actionscript.
- Designed and coded a scalable, XML-driven, two-sided, hexagonal-grid-based image selection device for the site.
- Conceptual work on an 'information radiator' web-delivered tool to display in real time the quality and volume of content produced by individuals and teams responsible for tens of thousands of images, quotes and essays.

Duncan-Channon Advertising & Communication: San Rafael CA

Web Developer

Responsible for all aspects of web development from conceptual design to final deployment. Projects ranged from client website development to gif banners to interactive, rich-media banners and interstitial ads. Worked closely with copywriters and creative directors to deliver award-winning projects on time and within budget.

JUL 98-JAN 99

Quokka Sports: San Francisco CA

Lead Designer: CART.com

Directed CART.com design team through an intense 20-event schedule of real-time race coverage and daily updates to the official CART site in a live studio environment. Engaged in hands-on web design, editorial, asset gathering and HTML authoring incorporating video and flash media. Unique visits, pageviews and average length of visit stats were highest among all Quokka sites and double those of the previous year for CART.com. I consistently performed above and beyond the expectations of Quokka as well as those of CART. In the process of working at the cutting edge of web design in this demanding environment, I became highly proficient in all aspects of web development and implementation.
